NATIONAL SEMINAR

Marathi: Its Correlation with other Languages

Chairperson/Principal/Prof./Dr./Research Scholar

Dear Sir/Madam,

We are pleased to inform you that on the Occasion of International Mother Language Day, Department of Modern Indian Languages (Marathi Section), Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh is holding a two day Interdisciplinary National Seminar on the theme “Marathi: Its Correlation with other Languages”, on 21-22 February 2018.

India is a multi-lingual country and it has a rich literary tradition. A large population is speaking Marathi and stands on 19th position in the world and 4th in India. It has a deep correlation with other languages as well. Regional languages are endangered. According to George Garson survey in 1902, there are 200 spoken languages in Indian sub-continent but as per recent research report of Ganesh Devi, there are 750 spoken languages in India. A large literature is written in all these languages. Marathi has a deep correlation with all these languages. Proposed national seminar aims to explore correlation in Indian languages, Literature, Art and Culture.

We are inviting papers on the following themes which will be published in a book form with ISBN No. and to be released on 21st February 2018.

1. Origin and development of Marathi and other Indian Languages
2. Script and Grammar of Marathi and other Indian Languages
3. Communal Harmony in Indian Literature
4. Sufi, Bhakti and other Devotional Movements in Indian Literature
5. Correlation of regional Novels, Short-Stories, Drama, Poetry and Prose
6. Literary Trends: i.e., Dalit, Subaltern, Feminist, Romantic, Progressive, Modern and Post-Modern Literature
7. Inter Influence of Marathi and other Indian Languages
8. Impact of Globalization on Indian Languages and Literature
9. Correlation of Art and Culture
10. Inter-translated works of Indian languages
11. Comparative study of Indian Languages and Literature
12. Gyanpith and Sahitya Academi Award winning writings of Indian Languages
