Aligarh Muslim University (AMU) is a public university. It was established by Sir Syed Ahmad Khan as Madrasatul Uloom Musalman-e-Hind in 1875, which later became Mohammedan Anglo-Oriental College (MAO College). The Mohammedan Anglo-Oriental College became Aligarh Muslim University in 1920. The main campus of AMU is located in the city of Aligarh in Western Uttar Pradesh in North India. The university campus occupies an area of over 468 hectares. It has total academic staff strength of 2,500 with around 30,000 students. Aligarh Muslim University draws students from all corners of the country as well as foreign countries. Since last many years, the University has ranked among the top 10 higher education institutions in India by various national and international rankings agencies.

Aligarh Muslim University Centre at Jangipur, Murshidabad is an off-campus of Aligarh Muslim University. The Centre, accredited by NAAC in A grade, is empowered by Section 5(2) (C) of the AMU (Amendment) Act, 1981 and under Section 12(2) of the University Act. [Act XL 1920 and AMU (Amendment) Act, 1972]. Two major milestones were achieved by the Centre in the year 2016 on academic front. The Centre successfully got its two-year B. Ed. course inspected by National Council for Teachers Education (NCTE) in February 2016. The Bar Council of India (BCI) inspection team visited the campus on August 16, 2016 for inspecting the five year integrated BA. LLB course. Both these inspections have added credibility to the courses offered and have also enhanced the reputation of the Centre as an important seat of higher learning in the region.

Spread over an area of 288 acres of land, the Centre is divided into two plots by an irrigation canal. It is located nearly 40km from Farakka and 60km from Behrampore towns of Murshidabad. It is well connected with road and railway networks. It lies 250km North of Kolkata on NH34 and the nearest railway junction is Jangipur Road (approx 08km).
