

Aligarh Muslim University

The university began its journey in 1877, with a college founded by Sir Syed Ahmad Khan named Muhammadan Anglo Oriental College in Aligarh. It was also around this time that a movement began to have it develop into a university. To achieve this goal, expansions were made and more academic programs added to the curriculum of the college. By 1920 the college was transformed into the Aligarh Muslim University.

The University provides education at the diploma, undergraduate, post graduate, doctoral and post doctoral levels in almost all the disciplines.

Faculty of Engineering and Technology

The Faculty has three main constituents:

1. Z.H. College of Engg. & Tech.
2. University Polytechnic
3. Women's Polytechnic

The Faculty offers B.Tech, M.Tech and Ph.D. programme in various branches of Engineering

& Applied Sciences. The medium of instruction in the Institution is English. In addition, the Faculty also offers a 4 Year B.E.(Evening) Degree Course in Civil, Electrical & Mechanical Engineering to Diploma holders and a 5 Years Degree Course of B.Arch.

University Polytechnic

The University Polytechnic, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, a premier institution imparting technical education was established in 1937. It has been running three years Diploma in Engineering in almost all major disciplines and of late a B.Voc. Degree-Course is also being successfully run.

Besides running the above courses, the institution have a number of job oriented courses and training programs running under different schemes.

The University Polytechnic being a part of the central university is governed by MHRD & UGC and has highly specialized laboratories and other infrastructure. It consists of about 80 faculty members most of whom hold M.Tech. and Ph.D. degrees.
